

Fall 2009

Vol. 4, Issue 1

Mershon Memo

A newsletter of the Mershon Center for International Security Studies

Postdoc, visitors join Mershon

Several visitors will take up residence at the Mershon Center for 2009 and beyond.

Postdoctoral Fellow Lisa Stampnitzky received her Ph.D. in Sociology from the

Stampnitzky

University of California-Berkeley in 2008. She will expand her dissertation, "Disciplining an Unruly Field: Terrorism Studies and the State, 1972-2001," into a book.

Stampnitzky's work discusses the organization of expert knowledge on terrorism from the 1970s to the present. It examines the identification of terrorism as a state problem, the role of government in organizing the production of knowledge, and ongoing efforts of academic and practical experts to define the field.

Stampnitzky will speak on her project at noon on Wednesday, October 14.

Visiting Scholar Mark Stewart is director of the Centre for Infrastructure Performance and Reliability at University of Newcastle, Australia. He has received

See Visitors on back page

Mershon supports 11 students with study abroad scholarships

Some hope to have a career in the State Department, U.S. Military, or intelligence community. Others want to work for the World Health Organization or in economic development. Some seek positions in international law and public policy.

These are a few of the winners of the 2009-10 Ralph D. Mershon Study Abroad Scholarship awarded by the Mershon Center for International Security Studies. The scholarship supports students who aspire to careers related to international security. Two awards were given to students researching issues related to peace and conflict resolution.

Valerie Hendrickson, one student winner, is a sophomore majoring in East Asian Studies with a focus on Chinese. She will attend the Chinese Language Flagship

Hendrickson

Program in Qingdao for two months, studying Chinese to pursue her ambition of working in the intelligence community.

Another winner, John Bolam, will complete courses at Yonsei University's Korean Language Institute and take classes in political science and international relations in South Korea. He hopes to pursue a career in the U.S. Foreign Service.

Bolam

Dustin Koenig, a senior majoring in political science, will attend an intensive Russian language and culture program in Tomsk, Russia. He will live with a host family and develop the language skills needed to pursue a future position in international public policy.

Koenig

Logan West, a freshman international studies major, is in the Air Force ROTC. He will study Arabic at an intensive language program in Amman, Jordan, as part of his preparation for a career as an officer.

West

Other scholarship winners will be studying for an academic quarter or longer in countries around the globe — including Syria, Spain, Russia, Brazil, France, and India.

Lowell Howard, a junior majoring in International Studies, will spend nine months taking courses in a Portuguese language program in São Paulo, Brazil. He has completed internships at the Ohio Environmental Council and the Westerville Area Chamber of Commerce, working on fuel policy and commerce issues. During his time abroad, he plans to take economic policy courses, gaining skills for a career in international development.

Howard

Surili Sheth is a sophomore majoring in economics, political science, and philosophy who is pursuing research in peace and conflict resolution. She will participate in the Minnesota Studies International Development program in Jaipur, India.

Sheth

See Study Abroad on back page

Mershon Center for International Security Studies

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
20	21	22	SEPTEMBER 23 Fall quarter begins	24	25 Noon, Mershon 120 Robert Pape	26
27	28	29	30 Noon, Mershon 120 Mark Stewart	OCTOBER 1	2 Conference The 2008 U.S. Presidential Election	3 Conference The 2008 U.S. Presidential Election
4	5	6	7	8	9 3:30 p.m., Mershon 120 Susan Stokes	10
11	12	13	14 Noon, Mershon 120 Lisa Stampnitzky	15	16	17
18	19	20	21 Noon, Mershon 120 Mark Beissinger	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30 Conference West Africa and the U.S. 'War on Terror'	31 Conference West Africa and the U.S. 'War on Terror'
NOVEMBER 1	2	3	4 3:30 p.m., Mershon 120 Nicholas Rankin	5 3:30 p.m., Mershon 120 Catherine Weaver	6 Noon, Mershon 120 Janice Bially Mattern	7
8	9	10	11 Veterans Day	12	13 Noon, Mershon 120 William Scheuerman	14
15	16	17	18 Noon, Mershon 120 Elizabeth Borgwardt	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26 Thanksgiving	27 Thanksgiving	28
29	30	DECEMBER 1	2	3	4 Fall quarter ends	5

Fall 2009 Calendar of Events

Friday, September 25, 2009

Robert Pape
Professor of Political Science
University of Chicago

"America's Relative Decline and Its Consequences"
Noon, Mershon Center Room 120

Pape

Friday-Saturday, October 30-31, 2009

West Africa and the U.S. 'War on Terror'
Organized by Kalechi Kalu
Director, Center for African Studies

Mershon Center Room 120

Kalu

Wednesday, September 30, 2009

Mark Stewart
Director, Centre for Infrastructure Performance and Reliability, University of New Castle

"Critical Infrastructure Protection: Are We Spending Too Much on Counter-Terrorism?"

Noon, Mershon Center Room 120

Stewart

Wednesday, November 4, 2009

Nicholas Rankin
Former Documentary Producer
BBC World Service

"Secrets and Lies: How the British Used Camouflage and Deception in Two World Wars"

3:30 p.m., Mershon Center Room 120

Rankin

Friday-Saturday, October 2-3 2009

The 2008 U.S. Presidential Election: The Election That Rebranded the U.S. Abroad
Organized by Herb Weisberg
Chair, Department of Political Science

Mershon Center Room 120

Weisberg

Thursday, November 5, 2009

Catherine Weaver
Associate Professor of International Relations
University of Texas-Austin

"The Politics of IO Accountability: Transparency and Evaluation in the International Monetary Fund"

3:30 p.m., Mershon Center Room 120

Weaver

Friday, October 9, 2009

Susan Stokes
John S. Saden Professor of Political Science
Yale University

"Vote Buying in Democratic Systems"
3:30 p.m., Mershon Center Room 120

Stokes

Friday, November 6, 2009

Janice Bially Mattern
Associate Professor of International Relations
Lehigh University

"The Emotional Politics of Transnational Crime"
Noon, Mershon Center Room 120

Mattern

Wednesday, October 14, 2009

Lisa Stampnitzky
Postdoctoral Fellow
Mershon Center for International Security Studies

"Disciplining an Unruly Field: Terrorism Studies and the State, 1972-2001"

Noon, Mershon Center Room 120

Stampnitzky

Friday, November 13, 2009

William Scheuerman
Professor of Political Science
Indiana University-Bloomington

"What Cosmopolitans Can Learn From Classical Realists"
Noon, Mershon Center Room 120

Scheuerman

Wednesday, October 21, 2009

Mark Beissinger
Professor of Politics, Princeton University

"Imperial Reputations: How Sovereignty and Self-Determination Norms Have Altered the Politics of Empire"

Noon, Mershon Center Room 120

Beissinger

Wednesday, November 18, 2009

Elizabeth Borgwardt
Associate Professor of History
Washington University, St. Louis

"The Mad Pursuit of a World Bill of Rights': International Legal Norms and the Senate after Nuremberg"

3:30 p.m., Mershon Center Room 120

Borgwardt

For more information and to reserve your spot, please see the Mershon Center web site at mershoncenter.osu.edu
Mershon Center for International Security Studies, 1501 Neil Ave., Columbus, OH 43201 (614) 292-1681

1501 Neil Ave.
 Columbus, OH 43201
<http://mershoncenter.osu.edu>

Visitors

Continued from Page 1

Australian Research Council grants to develop cost-benefit assessments of counter-terrorism protective measures for critical infrastructure.

Stewart will present "Critical Infrastructure Protection: Are We Spending Too Much on Counter-Terrorism?" at noon on Wednesday, September 30.

Mujani

Also visiting is Saiful Mujani, founder of the Lemnaga Survei Indonesia (Indonesian Survey Institute). He will be working with Bill Liddle on the Indonesian National Election Project, a social scientific survey conducted in the wake of this year's national parliamentary elections in Indonesia.

Research foci include perceptions of Indonesian voters about political parties and leaders, as well as channels through which voters received information during the campaign.

Study Abroad

Continued from Page 1

Her time abroad will contribute to her honors thesis on NGOs and public development projects in Ramapur No Tekro, the largest slum in the state of Gujarat. She will participate in an internship with an Indian NGO and take Hindi, preparing herself for future development work.

Ravi Gupta is also working in the field of peace and conflict resolution. He is a senior majoring in political science and molecular genetics who will spend two months interviewing government health officials and collecting data on the role of health information in Rajasthan, India. He hopes to pursue a career in public health.

The scholarship competition had more than 80 applicants this year. Unfortunately, the Mershon Center could fund only 11 applicants and had to make difficult choices among the growing number of Ohio State students recognizing the tremendous value of studying abroad.

The Mershon Center will fund another competition in 2010 and hopes students from across campus will apply.

Sangeeta Mahapatra, a Ph.D. student in International Relations at Jadavpur University in Kolkata, India, is visiting on a Fulbright-Nehru Fellowship to work on "Counterterrorism Strategies of India, Israel and the United States."

The aim of the study is to expand the scope of counterterrorism decision-making by studying how the three countries use their political, legal, civilian and economic structures to deal with an outlier event.

In addition, visiting Fulbright scholar Jean-François Juneau, a Ph.D. student in history at University of Montreal, will work with Carole Fink on "Egon Bahr et l'Ostpolitik de la République fédérale d'Allemagne, 1945-1975."

Finally, Jeffrey Hornung, a postdoctoral fellow at the East Asian Studies Center, will spend this year working to turn his dissertation, "Learning How to Sweat: Explaining the Dispatch of Japan's Self-Defense Forces in the Gulf War and Iraq War," into a book.

Mahapatra

Hornung

Gupta